Campus News Briefs

SUMMER SCHOOL

Application for rooms for summer school sessions begins at the end of next week, according to an announcement made by Helen G. Duncan, dean of women here at G.T.C.

Women students who intend to attend summer sessions, and who have lived on campus during the regular school year, will be housed in Lewis Hall. Teachers in service will live in West Hall during the summer.

Cone Hall will be used for men students as it has been during the previous summer school sessions. Unless there are more applications for rooms than indications are at present, Sanford Hall will not be utilized—for either women or men.

East Hall will be closed for remodeling.

BIOLOGISTS

Dr. J. A. Boole, associate professor of biology, and Dr. Elmer C. Pritchard, professor of biology and assistant coach of Stetson University, Deland, are leaving Thursday, April 18, for Athens to spend the weekend. They are to attend the 50th anniversary of the Association of Southeastern Biologists to be held at the new continuing education center.

SPELLING BEE

G.T.C. was host to the First District division of the Atlanta Journal and Constitution Spelling Bee held April 16 in the college library. J. A. Pafford, principal of Marvin Pittman School, conducted the contest.

Winner of the First District, who was the Montgomery County representative, will meet other district contestants in the state competition to be held in Atlanta at a later date. Requirements for the spelling bee include being in the eighth grade or below.

Judges for the contest include Mrs. Catherine Kirkland, instruction supervisor for Bulloch County; George Durrence, county school superintendent for Evans County; and Miss Maude White, instructional supervisor of Emanuel County.

Highsmith Given B.S.U. Presidency For Next Year

Aubrey Highsmith was elected Wednesday night to serve as president of the B.S.U. for the year 1957-58. Highsmith was chosen at a general meeting of the Baptist students on campus to take over Bill Brooker's (this year's president) position.

Elected to serve with him are: vice president, Stanley Brobst; enlistment chairman, Jerry Brown; social chairman, Joyce Jackson; devotional chairman, Jane Jackson; secretary, Barbara Williams; publicity chairman, Bob Spell; editor of the B.S.U. Key, Jo Ann Parker; scrapbook chairman, Diana Bair; stewardship chairman, Dahlia Evans; missions chairman, Martha Cason; music chairman, Ouida Newby; pianist, Bernie Palmer; Sunday school representative, Reuben Neely; and Y.W.A. representative, Sally Ruark.

Acting as faculty advisor for the organization will be Kirbylene Stephens, secretary to the president, and faculty advisor to the student workers' association.

Dr. Leslie S. Williams of the First Baptist Church in Statesboro has been chosen as the pastor advisor again.

These newly elected officers will attend a spring retreat held at Rock Eagle State Park in Eatonton, where they will be a part of the workshops and seminars designed to acquaint them with the duties of their positions.

Immediately upon their return to the campus they will assume the offices set aside for them for next year.

Actual Operation To Begin June 1

Donald McDougald, comptroller for G.T.C., announced last week that the warehouse which is being built at the present time on the back campus of the college will be completed in about two weeks.

The warehouse, whose total cost will amount to approximately $37,000, will house under one roof all of the maintenance and operation supplies for G.T.C. for the first time.

Operation of the warehouse system will actually begin on June 1, but it will require about two or three months to become effective enough to operate without any hitches. By the beginning of fall quarter of 1957 the plans should be running smoothly.

The construction of the warehouse is being carried on by the Coite Somers Construction Company of Vidalia, which has also contracted many school buildings throughout the state.

The supervisor of the warehouse, whose job will be to take announced inventories and to be responsible for the distribution departments on the campus, will of all supplies to the various be announced later. He will be a full-time employee of the maintenance department of the college.

G.T.C. Beauties To Enter Contest

Three G.T.C. girls have entered the beauty contest of the "L" Company of the 504th Airborne Infantry Regiment of the 82nd Airborne Division. The contest is set for Tuesday night at Ft. Stewart.

Dianna Bair, Martha Tinker, and Ann Daniels will vie for the title, with the winner scheduled to receive a loving cup and "wings." The girls will be judged on appearance in street clothes, and on an interview with the judges.

"L" Company requested that any interested girls from this school enter the contest. This was done because of the nearness of the college to Ft. Stewart, and because most of the girls the men already know are "back home."

G.T.C. Workshop In Hazlehurst This Summer

G.T.C. will hold an off-campus workshop at Hazlehurst which will coincide with the first term of summer school of 1957, according to an announcement made by Dr. J. D. Park, director of teacher education. Arrangements were completed to provide the field service last week, and the workshop will be under the direction of Dr. Marshall Hamilton of the G.T.C. education department.

The workshop in Hazlehurst may be taken by experienced teachers in lieu of student teaching. In recent years a number of students have left the colleges of the state prior to completing their degree and have begun teaching after two or three years of college study. The general curriculum workshop provides a convenient way for such students to continue their college training and complete their degree and professional certification requirements.

Credits for the Hazlehurst workshop will be recorded as residence credit at the college

Weekend Dance

The Foreign Language clubs are sponsoring a dance tomorrow night to be held in the recreation room of Cone Hall at 8 p. m. The dance is a record dance, and refreshments will be served. Invitations are extended to all who are on campus this weekend to attend.

'Teahouse' Gets Spotlight Next Thursday, Friday

"The Teahouse of the August Moon" will be staged by Masquers on Thursday and Friday, April 25-26 in McCroan Auditorium at 8:15 p. m. Tickets will be $1 for adults, 75 cents for faculty, and 50 cents for students.

This comedy concerns the adventures of one Captain Fisby (Ric Mandes) of the U. S. occupation forces in Okinawa. Captain Fisby is sent to Tabika village to carry out "Plan B" for Americanizing the natives. However, he encounters one difficulty after another. One of these is a lovely geisha girl, Lotus Blossom (Diana Bair). Fisby constantly has to cope with his impish interpreter, Sakini (Bill Sanders).

Director of the production is Dorothy Few, assistant professor of speech. Masquers' productions of the past two quarters were "Summer and Smoke" by Tennessee Williams, and "Macbeth" by William Shakespeare.

Newly Elected F.T.A. Officers For Next Year

Officers for next year were elected at the regular meeting of the F.T.A. on Tuesday night of this week.

Those officers elected were, Billy Jackson, President; Joyce Jackson, vice president; Sonny Bridges, second vice president; Lynette Tanner, secretary; and Joyce Clark, treasurer.

In addition to these, other officers will be announced later.

A discussion was held concerning the state F.T.A. convention in Atlanta May 2 and 3. G.T.C. expects to send from six to ten delegates to this convention.

Dr. Park, professor of the division of Education is faculty adviser for the group.

Health Ed. Class Begins Drive

Polio immunization shots will be administered to the students of G.T.C. on May 1, according to an announcement made by Solon Wisham, chairman of the drive sponsored by the health education class 430.

All classes will be dismissed for two hours on that day to give every student the opportunity to get these shots with no conflict.

For those who are over 20 years of age and who wish to acquire the Salk vaccine, there will be a nominal charge of 65 cents because in these cases the vaccine will be provided by private dealers.

However, those under 20 years of age will receive the shots free through a Georgia state ruling. Nurses from the Bulloch County Health Department will be present that day here at the health cottage to give the shots.

The health education class will utilize the assembly program on Monday, April 29, to inform the students definitely concerning the activities of the actual day of immunization. Forms will be distributed on which a statement must be made of whether or not the students wish to accept the vaccine. From the information gained by this survey, the health class will make immunization records which will be completed at the time the shot is given.

During the next two weeks members of the class will be present at the various dormitory house meetings to give information and answer any questions which may arise.

Approximately three and one-half weeks following the first shot, the second shot, which can be the last one, will be offered here at G.T.C., with the same circumstances prevailing.

Further information will be issued from time to time through the use of the dining hall public address system, posters, radio announcements, and various newspaper articles.

A project similar to this one sponsored by the health education class was carried on at Georgia Southwestern College in Americus recently, with 100 per cent of the student body responding.

Club Presidents Discuss Center

First plans for the dining hall-student center will be presented to the committee of faculty members next Friday afternoon when the architect will be on campus in the guidance-counseling room, according to President Zach S. Henderson.

Dr. Henderson made this statement to a group of club presidents and representatives which met at his home yesterday afternoon at 3:30. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss preliminary plans for the new building.

Dr. Donald F. Hackett, professor and chairman of the division of arts, who is also chairman of the building committee, began the discussion by asking three questions to provoke thought among those present.

The questions asked were (1) What should be offered for sale in the store compartment of building in addition to what is sold at the present Blue Tide?

(2) What recreational facilities should be offered in the 6,000 square feet of space set aside for that purpose?

(3) Which clubs and organizations should be given office space in the new building?

Already provided for in the first section is a grill, a soda fountain, a snack bar, and, as somebody suggested, a coffee pot in which to make some kind of coffee other than instant.

Dancing space was the biggest topic of conversation during the meeting. Office space was unanimously devoted to the student publications and to the Student Council.

Those present at the meeting included:

Jane Jackson, representing the French Club; Carol Goff, Science Club; Martha Tinker, Art Club; Bobby Teasley, F.B.L.A.; Jennie Fay Morgan, English Club; Gene Wiley, Veterans' Club; W. J. Webb, Industrial Arts Club; John Chambliss, band; Dave Powers, M.E.C.; James Jones, Phi Mu Alpha; Bill Brooker, B.S.U.; Frances Belle McGirt, A.C.E.; Mary Jane Harper, Big Sisters; Sis Heys, Home Ec. Club; Claudia Tinker, Canterbury Club; Junyth Hanson, Phi Beta Lambda; Joyce Kirkland, George-Anne; and Don McDougald, comptroller.

An Ounce of Prevention . . .

Some days ago, the members of the class of physical education 430 made a survey during the assembly period concerning the question of how many students on this campus had prescribed to the use of the Salk polio vaccine. Well, here are the results as we find them: 585 students have NOT had the vaccine; 95 students have had the vaccine; and only 680 students signed the survey. This last total excludes the number of practice teachers for this quarter.

With little doubt this visualizes the general distribution throughout the United States. Most of this laxity is public opinion as to whether they take precautions for health's sake is due partly to indifference, lack of knowledge, and lack of effort to acquire any such protection.

Why is this same problem present in college students who are supposed to be of a higher calibre than the average span of the public?

Very recently Dr. Jonan Salk developed a vaccine which is effective in preventing polio. What was the nation's reaction? Some were dubious and restrained from commitment, while others took the necessary steps in securing the vaccine for their loved ones and themselves. What did you do? Did you make fragile excuses and let the matter slide?

Consequently, after a few months of wild popularity the whole effort to immunize the public almost came to a standstill. Why such indifferent treatment to as dreaded an affliction as polio? Probably one reason is that it is generally thought by the population masses that the Salk vaccine is a cure for polio. But these poor people are far, far from being correct! The vaccine cannot help you when polio strikes; there is no escape from its crippling and distorting stages, with many of them leading to death. Age is no safeguard against polio. Polio shows no partiality!

It is quite alarming, but actually expected that 86 per cent of the G.T.C. population have not taken the immunization vaccine! We of the class in physical education 430 have undertaken a coordinating program to give the students on this campus that valuable opportunity. For many it will be that second chance, so don't miff it! Wouldn't you seize the hand of someone who wanted to help you from danger. Is it so important that you prove to others that you'll take a chance? Are you a "thick-head," or "I'm against it," personality? No, I'm sure that you would not belong to any of these adverse opinions or groups.

Think and evaluate the old adage, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Nature vs. Neglect

Wonderful progress has been made throughout our campus through the past couple of years. First, we saw the widening of the street between the library and Cone Hall out through the east gate of the college. Then came the clearing of the area just east and south of the new gymnasium and finally there has come a widening of the circle drive through out campus.

All these things were needed to relieve either the congestion of the traffic situation or the congestion of the playing field area. Yet, there came an expected and a welcome improvement in the looks of our campus through these things.

This was all good, and yet there is still a problem of making our campus a more attractive one.

A few weeks back, there appeared in this paper an editorial and a letter to the editor about an offensive odor that had taken the spotlight from the spring flowers and the tall, majestic pine trees. There should have been a following suggestion that the old fence be taken down from the side of the drive, and that a little undergrowth be cut away thus making our campus one of the most beautiful throughout the South.

Today, we still have the offensive odor, the rusted fence and the ragged bit of undergrowth of the right side of the campus drive as we leave via the north gate. What will be done about it?

These things being accomplished, spring would be given the setting needed to set off her radiant splendor.

Next year, things should be made a little easier for spring, so that she will not have to creep through the trees as if she were afraid she were going to trip over something. Everything should be made ready to give her the royal welcome she deserves.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

"FRANKLY I'D RATHER ADVISE FRESHMEN—THEY'RE NOT SO SET IN THEIR WAYS"

Dear Editor:

Five students from the G.T.C. social science department played star roles in this college's TV program last Friday over Savannah's station WTOC-TV. The students involved deserve our highest commendation for their performance.

In a discussion of "Federal Aid to Education," the five brought out serious, thought provoking ideas showing the pro's and con's of both sides. Dwayne Dutton served as moderator for the group, with the rest of the group including Bob Mitchell, Star Woodard, Peter O'Millian, and Britt Fayssox.

Ideas on the subject were caught up and examined with much the same ease and naturalness of experienced speakers. Members of the forum backed up their statements with historical facts, and went on to relate them to modern developments in the governmental and educational set-up of the nation.

Jack N. Averitt, professor of social science, was faculty adviser in coordinating and producing the program. He also helped guide the extensive research the students did in preparing the program.

The entire show was interesting and informative. It will help set a high-water mark for the programs to live up to.

—JO ANN PARKER

Dear Editor:

I have seen all of the TV programs sponsored by your school over WTOC-TV in Savannah, and I think that perhaps the best one was last Friday afternoon.

I have long been an admirer of G.T.C. and the wonderful work put forth by the students there. I think it rare when a college this size can excel in so many ways.

All the TV programs have been good ones, displaying much talent and honest effort but this one takes the cake. Though there was not a tremendous amount of effort shown publicly by the panel, there had been chosen for the panel those people who indeed knew what they were talking about.

Congratulations, and keep up the good work up there, I really think it's wonderful.

Sincerely,
RUFUS JOHNSON, Jesup, Georgia.

Students . . . Scholarships

Some of the seniors that are graduating this June are planning to continue their education by going on to graduate school. In connection with this many of them applied for scholarships in the various colleges and universities and some of them have received appointments.

This proves that Georgia Teachers College is turning out very good students in several different fields. Sometimes a small college is inhabited with the stigma that because of its size it cannot turn out superior graduates. Of course the school cannot do it all. A lot depends on the students themselves. This is conclusive proof that students who apply themselves can achieve something more than a degree at this school.

A school like G.T.C. has much to offer its students if they will take advantage of the opportunities that it presents. Our school has a fine curriculum, administration, and a very capable and able faculty. True, our school is small and some of its facilities are limited but this seems to serve as a challenge to those who have drive and determination.

The students that receive these assistantships and scholarships serve as an example of what can be done at this school. This should serve as an incentive to those of us who will be graduating in the future.

A Hidden Spring

By JO ANN PARKER

"... All the chief priests and elders of the people took counsel against Jesus to put him to death... and they crucified him... and sitting down they watched him there..."

The above selections from Matthew 27, show some of the coldness and disregard for human life that existed during the time of Christ. This was a time of rules and laws and customs. Almost man's every move was affected by some type of regulation; it was almost more important how an act was performed than what the act was.

When Christ came to earth, there were certain rules and ideas that the Son of God was expected to follow. Every law was spelled out to the letter, and when Christ superseded these ideas, the people could not accept it. Their plan was not being followed. They were about to lose face, about to lose their high prestige. And so they killed Him.

Today's technical advances have led this nation to a material height not dreamed of in Christ's time. The United States stands before the world, and the world listens. But the spiritual life, the one thing that separates man from animal, has often been left to survive as best it can. It is too much easier to become lost in the struggle for more money and more prestige among friends.

This Easter can be a chance to stop and reconsider the gift of love He gave "... that ye might have life." It can be a time for considering the value of what we are devoting most of our time to.

And Here is Progress

On page one, you notice that there appears a picture of our new warehouse. This building is one that has long been needed here as has the dining hall-student center, the new classroom building and another girls' dormitory.

It seems that the classroom building and the dining hall-student center are in sight, for plans have already been made for the center, and bonds are now being sold for the building fund on the classroom building.

As the size of the student body increases, there will be many changes, all of which will make our school a much more efficient one in the training of teachers. Since we already are the outstanding teacher institution in the state this order seems to be a large one.

Meanwhile, back at the warehouse, G.T.C. has always needed a central location at which to store supplies of all types, and with this warehouse, many steps will be saved to make our distribution and maintenance department a much more efficient one.

The warehouse will contain offices which will ease the crowded areas of the administration building, and make for greater harmony.

As we see these buildings under construction, we know that time marches on, and that with time there comes progress.

PLAYERS OF THE WEEK

Players of the week are pitcher Roy Alewine, second baseman Skeeter Griffin, and rightfielder Dave Esmonde.

Alewine stifled Stetson on six hits and one run last Tuesday to give the Profs a sweep of the series. He also collected two doubles and two R.B.I.'s. His won-loss record is now 5-0.

Griffin went four for seven in the Stetson series including a homer and a double. He also got two hits against Newberry. This hitting spree has raised his average from below the .300 mark to a lofty .333.

Esmonde had a fined day at the plate with three for four against Stetson in the opener last Monday. His hit in the ninth inning drove in the winning run of that game. It climaxed a three-run rally which enabled the Profs to pull a 4-3 victory out of the fire.

By DON AVERY

The G.T.C. swimming pool will open on May 1, according to an announcement made by Miss Margaret Stanion of the physical education department. However, bad weather at the last minute could influence the tentative date set.

Professors Lose Carolina Tilts

The Profs lost both ends of a two-game road trip, first to Newberry, 12-11, last Friday, and then to Furman, 3-0, on Saturday.

In the Newberry game G.T.C. fell one run short in a ninth inning rally, scoring five runs on a hit batsman and four hits including Ralph Turner's two-run triple.

Newberry had previously chased seven runs across the dish in the fifth.

G.T.C. stick leaders were Tom Womack with a double and single in four trips, Skeeter Griffin with two singles in four trips, and Bo Warren with a triple and single in five trips. Womack, Griffin, Warren, and Turner also had two R.B.I.'s each.

For Newberry, Phillips, Brown, and McElveen each had two hits. Pratt had a homer and four R.B.I.'s.

Five pitchers saw action for G.T.C. of which Ray Mims was the loser.

Stoudemire, who relieved Swafford in the fourth was the winner for Newberry.

Moore spun a neat four-hit shutout, walked but one, and struck out four, as he went all the way for a 3-0 Furman victory over G.T.C.
